Vermont Retail & Grocers Association Offers Expanded Programming in Response to COVID-19

Webinars include online marketing strategies, social media management, emergency business planning

Montpelier, Vt. – As part of an effort to provide necessary assistance for grocers and retailers throughout the state during this time of crisis Vermont Retail & Grocers Association (VRGA) is now offering an expanded series of webinars for members on topics related to operating during the COVID-19 Pandemic.

Webinars are open to all VRGA and Vermont Specialty Food Association (VSFA) members, as well as prospective members for a limited time. The next will be “How to Stay Growth-Oriented and Resilient in Your Retail, Grocery, or Specialty Foods Business” on Wednesday, May 6th at 1PM. Presented by Sam Markewich of Downtown Up, this hour long interactive online workshop will give you strategic tools, perspectives, and support to sustain and grow your business during the COVID-19 crisis and emerge strong once the crisis passes. The session will focus on realistic, immediate actions that can be taken to regain control over your business and gain an edge moving forward.

Following that, VSFA and the Agency of Agriculture, Foods & Market have collaborated on a group of webinars; Webinar Wednesday: E-Commerce Series. Each webinar will focus on a different topic related to E-commerce programs; these sessions are designed for companies looking to expand, leverage, and grow their current e-commerce business. Lean Edge Marketing and KW Content will lead the sessions. The first of the three webinars, “Optimizing Your E-Commerce”, will take place on Wednesday May 13th. All webinars will start at 1PM EST. You can find information on all webinars in the series (and register) at https://bit.ly/vsfawebinars.

Webinars are free, but registration in advance is required. To register, find these webinars on VRGA’s website at https://vtrga.org/events/, on VSFA’s website at https://bit.ly/vsfawebinars or on facebook at https://www.facebook.com/vtrga/.

Concluded webinars are recorded and posted to VTRGA.org for members. For the benefit of the public in this unprecedented time of crisis, VRGA has made COVID-19 related webinars available to the general public. Find these pre-recorded webinars on their COVID-19 Resources Page at https://vtrga.org/heath-information. Prior webinar topics include sanitation of businesses, general information on the COVID-19 Virus, setting up and utilizing online retail platforms, and information on federal stimulus efforts.

“In the changing landscape of retail, it’s becoming harder and harder for business owners to leave the store for a full day of training or networking,” said Erin Sigrist, president of VRGA. “Our members now have the ability to stay close to work and participate in these discussions. We’re looking forward to bringing this timely information to our members around the state in a convenient and cost-conscious way. And if they can’t make the live webinar, members will have access to the recordings through our member web portal.”

VRGA is currently working with the office of Governor Phil Scott on his “RestartVT” task force, a working project on how to safely reopen retail throughout the state. In addition to these on-going efforts, VRGA provides access to an impressive array of benefits including payroll processing, credit-debit card processing savings, reduced cost shipping programs, dental insurance plans, and company sponsored 401K options. VRGA also provides full-time representation in the state house with opportunities to address legislators directly about retail and food related issues.

To learn more about the work VRGA does, visit their website at www.vtrga.org, follow them on facebook & twitter, call their office at (802) 839-1928 or visit them at 148 State Street Montpelier, VT 05602.
